AFFAIRS IN BALTIMORE.

If the report that a regiment of United States cavalry has already been ordered to Fort McHenry, in the immediate vicinity of Baltimore, shall prove to be well founded—and we see no reason to doubt it—it looks as if Governor SWANN is resolved to make the attempt at least to remove the Police Commissioners, and thus give the rebels free access to the polls, in spite of the constitution and laws of Maryland.

It is also rumored that even the members of the Governor's staff are deserting him and going over to the Republicans; and it is certain that powerful organizations have been formed to maintain and defend the Commissioners and the laws. There are no higher tempered people on the continent than the loyal men of that city and State; and the result of the collision between the Mayor of Baltimore and the Governor of the State is awaited with profound interest and anxiety.

Were it not for ANDREW JOHNSON, with the military power of the nation at his command, the country would laugh at the Governor's threat. In fact, but for the support he expects from that quarter, he would give up his high-handed and usurping purpose at once. But therein lies the danger. The Governor will proceed against the Commissioners. Then the Mayor of the city and the people will resist. This will be esteemed an insurrection, and then the Governor will call upon the President, as the Constitution authorizes him to do, to aid in its suppression. Then the President will have his political opponents in the apparent attitude he has often said they occupy—that of traitors and rebels. This is what he is aiming at; and in our opinion it would be better for the Republicans of Baltimore to suffer wrong for a brief period than to put themselves, even in appearance, in a false position.

FREE RAILROADS.

The new Legislature is not, on the whole, as strong a body as the immediately preceding one. Indeed, there has been a gradual diminution of intellectual power in the Houses at Harrisburg for ten years past. This is an evil which calls imperatively for rectification. But no adequate remedy can be found except in the electors themselves. So long as they are content to accept inferior men they will get plenty of them, and few of the other sort. When they insist that men of the superior grades shall be selected for the Legislature, such will be brought forward, and not before.

Speaking of the Legislature calls to mind the fact that many of the members elect are pledged to support a Free Railroad Law. To make sure of this measure it is needful the people speak in season and with emphasis. This should be done in popular assemblies and by memorials to the General Assembly. If any member fails to go for it, he should be so spotted as to prevent his renomination, or if renominated, so as to ensure his defeat. This is an effectual method, and if vigorously pursued will not fail of producing the desired result.

The General Grant Horses—Card of Explanation.

The resolution passed at the last meeting of the Allegheny Councils, in reference to the action of Mr. C. C. Smith in regard to a pair of horses belonging to the General Grant Fire Company, only needs a little explanation to render it satisfactory to the public and relieve Mr. Smith from all suspicion of wrong doing. The facts are these:

Dr. C. C. Smith, as a member of the Select Council, and also of the Committee on Fire Engines, being in the discharge of his duty, traded a pair of black horses for a pair of greys, giving $225 to boot, which sum he paid out of his own pocket. This trade, on account of some alleged informality, the city refused to recognize, and Mr. Smith returned the black horses in much better condition than they were when the trade was made. They now want the grey horses, which do not belong to the city, and do not wish to refund to Mr. Smith the $225 which he paid in the trade. Mr. Smith is willing to give up the horses, provided the city will make him whole by refunding the amount paid out. The driver of the team, in the employ of the city, took the grey horses to Mr. Smith's stable, and took the blacks to the engine house. It can be proven that they were in better condition than when the trade was made. The only object in view is to set things right before the public. Mr. Smith is out of pocket by the operation, and of course could have no mercenary object in view. Some of the members of the Council clearly exonerated him from all intention to do wrong, and declared that he was actuated by proper motives in the matter. The allegation that the trade was made without the consent of the other members of the Engine Committee, may have some weight and importance with the members of that Committee, but it should not and will not blast the mind of any unprejudiced citizen as to the honesty and good intentions of Mr. Smith.

ANOTHER FENIAN EXPEDITION.

Movement Against Mexico.

JAMES STEPHENS ON THE WAR PATH.

Full Cabinet Meeting.

MEXICAN QUESTION DISCUSSED.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The World contains the following in regard to another Fenian expedition: A short time since James Stephens, Head Centre of the Fenian Brotherhood, announced in a speech at Jones' Wood, that he would leave before the close of the present year to commence the battle of Celtic independence on Irish soil, and he is now preparing to redeem his promise. The arrangements for this movement, which will necessarily be of a secret character, have been made on a scale commensurate with its importance. Nearly twenty thousand arms have been received for this purpose, and they will be forwarded to the Green Isle in a manner which will, it is said, render detection impossible. One of the leading officers of the organization reports that there are twenty thousand men in the field ready and impatiently waiting for the signal to commence the revolution which is designated to get rid of Saxon oppression forever. Head Centres, Circles, and Centres, are also ready for the rising.

An important rumor was in circulation yesterday at the headquarters, that there were two Fenian war ships ready to sail from a certain port in the United States to Ireland, with rifles and men, which are now subject to the order of the head centre. There will also leave with the expedition. The uniforms of the officers, which are of green cloth, are being made, but the time of their departure is of course a profound secret. It is calculated that at least one hundred thousand cells will rise against the British Government when James Stephens gives the signal for the revolution, while the numbers to be brought against them will not exceed thirty thousand.

The Mexican question is also assuming importance. It is believed that General Santa Anna commands the Mexican army, and has about $3,500,000 in gold, and he has been assured that the ex-Fenians, ex-Federals and ex-Confederates, who have volunteered upon him can muster about seven thousand one hundred men, most of whom can bring arms for their own use, though of course any artillery that is procured will have to be de novo. There are now on foot plans for an active preparation for an expedition.

On Tuesday, the 21 of October, it is stated that a confidential agent of Maximilian of Mexico was dispatched to New Orleans to organize for the embarkation of a southern contingent from that place, which is stated to be the central point of operations. The steamers that are now in New Orleans have been purchased, but agents are at work looking out for roomy, swift double-enders, and it is contemplated to purchase four if they can be obtained. The point for New Orleans, which is to and not New York, the point of setting The ...ns are now at the ... place not a hundred miles fro... the place where the Le... expedition was fitted out. ...the men are collected at New Orleans, and it is expected that by the middle of next month, by which time it is expected that the stores and other preparations will be in readiness.

It is next to impossible to get at the names of most of the officers, but it is reported that General Sweeney, General Hindman, General Gilmore, and some say even Kirby Smith, are among the number. The report that General Dick Taylor is mixed in with the entries, his most intimate friends in New York deny. The point of debarkation on the Mexican soil is at Tampico, or at Panuco, as circumstances best advise.

General Santa Anna is confident that at last he has fairly under way operations tangible, and, as he believes, successful, and he intends to command the expedition himself in the event of its successful set off. General Thos. Taylor is reported to be his chief executive officer. Santa Anna asserts that as soon as he plants his standard upon Mexican soil, the Liberals will rush to his fonds, as he is the only man that has put them to victory that as sured peace. The reports that he intends proclaiming himself Dictator he pronounces false. He says that he shall but to expel the usurper, and shall then obey the voice of the sovereign people of his native land, and acquiesce in whatever government they elect to have.

Dispatches from Washington say: Nothing further has transpired in relation to the Mexican question, partly owing, no doubt, to the illness and consequent absence of SEWARD, who has been confined to his room since his arrival. As I stated last night, however, what have telegraphed you on this subject, although unofficial, it may be considered of a strictly reliable character, and will be further telegraphed in a few days.

The New York Bank Statement may pronounced unfavorable in Wall street to-day, and in consequence there was a feeling, especially in the stock market, approximating a small panic. But it was of short duration, and, practically, did not amount to much. The decrease in the deposits, no doubt, is owing to the withdrawal of balances by some of the state banks during the week. To the same cause the other changes are supposed to be largely attributable.

The Cabinet is fully attended to-day, and it is understood that the proposed treaties with Mexican affairs are receiving their final consideration by the Executive Department. That the meeting is not a political moment, is evidenced by the sudden return of Postmaster General Randall, who had departed for the west, but has thus suddenly re-appeared to be present at the Cabinet meeting.

It is evident that the President has determined to recover his lost prestige by attempting a coup d' etat in the Mexican question, in the expectation that a revulsion in popular judgment will be induced by the magnificence of the results.

Marine Disasters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The brig Velocity has arrived here. She reports the encountering of a hurricane on the 1st instant, and suffering much damage. On the 6th she met a brig and a schooner, both disabled. On the 19th she was boarded by the brig Ostray, of St. Johns, N. B., which had on board the crew of the schooner Satilla, of New York, short of provisions. The Velocity being also short, was unable to supply them. On the 21st she saw the steamer Theodore B. Wagner, from Boston, for Charleston, on fire. Rendered them all the assistance possible, and got the women and children, sixteen in number, on board the brig, when she sheered, finding it impossible to save the steamer, abandoned her. Thirteen came on board the Velocity, and the remaining seven went on board the schooner Enoch Pratt, bound to New York.

The bark Starking reports that in a gale on the 16th, she took from the bark Mary Elizabeth the Captain and crew, twelve in number. The Captain reported the passing of the wreck of the schooner Mary E. Dyer, with four men on board, but was unable to send to them. The bark Clemson reports that on the 21st, in latitude 37 deg. 48 min., longitude 73 deg. 24 min., at one o'clock A. M., she saw a screw steamer on fire, with another steamer lying by her, which is supposed to have taken her crew off. The one on fire sunk at three o'clock P. M. on the 22d.

Military Ordered to Baltimore—Trinity Church Property—Indian Troubles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Post's Washington special says: General Brooks, commanding the Fourth Artillery regiment, has been ordered to Fort McHenry, Baltimore.

The heirs of Anneke Jenks, the original owner of the Trinity Church property, are about to contest the right of purchase to the property.

The Tribune's special says: General Sherman was at Fort Dodge on the 7th, and remained over Sunday. The General gave the Indians eight days in which to bring in the other three white women they have, and if they do not return there will be no peace—that war would be war. The Indians started home to have a council among themselves. On leaving they said if we did not hear from them in five days we might look out for something exciting. The five days expired last Friday and we are on the alert.

Legislative Bribery in New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 23.—The trials on the indictments for bribery and corruption in the in the last legislature commenced to-day. The first case called was the State against Charles Wolf, of Hudson county. The State produced but one witness. Attorney General F. Ellinhaysen and prosecutor Hoghan appeared on the part of the State, and Jos. Bradley, T. Richardson and Leon Abbott for the defendant. Mr. Bradley contended that the State had failed to make out a case.

The Texas Election, &c.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22.—The Congressional elections in Texas took place on the 15th. The returns received thus far show the vote to be very small so far as heard from. Bradshaw leads Epperson in the 1st district. Conseltree, 40 far, is ahead in the 2d district. Very little interest is taken in the election.

THE REPORTS CONCERNING MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Consul Kirkpatrick, at Nassau, writes as follows concerning the late hurricane in those latitudes: "I have heard of several wrecks of American vessels at the different Islands, but have not thus far received the names of them or the fate of their crews. I much fear the loss of life has been fearful. Not a single officer or seaman has reached this Consulate, although eight days have elapsed since the hurricane."

Major General E. R. S. Canby, Commanding the Department of the South, has issued a general order dated October 15th, announces the following assignment of troops and officers in this Department, to take effect on the 20th inst. Until then the troops will remain where commands can be established at the points designated:

Brevet Major Gen. W. H. Emery, of the 5th cavalry, to command the garrison of Washington, which will be composed of the first and third battalions of the 5th U. S. Infantry and 4th U. S. Artillery, Battery M, 3d Artillery and a detachment of the 8th U. S. Cavalry. Brevet Brig. Gen. H. Brooks, Colonel U. S. Army, Baltimore, to command Fort McHenry, Maryland, garrisoned by Company I, 4th U. S. Artillery. Brevet Lieut. Col. F. M. Follet, Captain, 4th U. S. Artillery, to command Fort Delaware, Del. Col. Ad. Ingalls, with 4th U. S. Artillery, to command Fort Point, Maryland, garrisoned by company E, 4th U. S. Artillery.

A circular has been issued from the War Department stating that there is doubtless some just ground of complaint in the respect to the rations furnished soldiers. No steps in relation to the issue and cooking and serving of soldiers rations. It is directed that if in the economical use of the rations any saving can be effected, it is to be appropriated exclusively to the improvement of the soldiers table fare or his comfort in the quarters and no. to be diverted in any other way.

The new regulations for delivery of cotton at the point of destination to be taken by the Collector of the receiving district instead of the Collector of the district from which the cotton is shipped, as provided by Regulation No. 5, No. 6, issued from this office under date of July 31st, 1862. The following additional regulations have been issued by the Treasury Department exclusively to the improvement of the soldiers table fare or his comfort in the quarters and no. to be diverted in any other way.

The new regulations for delivery of cotton at the point of destination to be taken by the Collector of the receiving district instead of the Collector of the district from which the cotton is shipped, as provided by Regulation No. 5, No. 6, issued from this office under date of July 31st, 1862. Tonight meetings are being held at various points, resulting, as they usually do on such occasions, in the adoption of resolutions denouncing the Executive policy, and the like organizations of the Republicans. Similar meetings for organization have also been held, or are being held, by the Democrats in various parts of the State. These meetings were called before the proclamation was issued, and therefore cannot be regarded as having any particular reference to it, although, no doubt, some of these gatherings will discuss the questions raised by the Governor.

The general opinion prevailing among thoughtful people is, that even should the Governor decline to remove the Commissioners and appoint others to succeed them, there would be no difficulty, as a matter of fact, in the Assessor of the district in which such cotton may be grown. This could must be executed in a penal sum equal to double the amount of the tax on the cotton for which he is required to be responsible, and in transit at any one time during its continuance, and Assessors will be careful not to grant further permits upon any bond which will make the tax paid thereon and permitted amounts to one-half the sum named therein until certificate of payment of tax on the whole or a portion of the cotton transported, shall be furnished from the Collector, when additional permits may be granted, but in no case must the tax upon the quantity under permit and unaccounted for exceed one-half the penal sum of the bond, thus if the bond is given as a sum securing the tax upon five hundred bales of four hundred pounds each, when this limit is reached no further permits for transportation will be granted, except upon the receipt of delivery and payment, as herein after provided. Immediately upon the execution of this bond, the Collector to whom it is delivered will transmit it, relating a copy thereof in this office to the Assessor of the district whence it is intended to ship the cotton, who shall, upon receipt thereupon grant permits for the removal of the cotton, upon application being made by the principal or his agent, upon receiving this bond, and the duplicate thereof, and not otherwise. The circular concludes with instructions to the Assessor and Collector, and it is stated that no cotton will be taken when weighed before removal by a duly appointed weigher of the amount of tax named on the permit will be based upon the weight, as certified by the gauger at the point where the cotton is ginned. In order to arrive at the true amount of tax to be paid on the cotton removed under these regulations, the Collector is directed upon its arrival in the receiving district to appoint a weigher for that purpose, to whom a fee of twenty-five cents per bale will be paid for his services, for the issuance of certificates of the weight the tax shall be collected.

These regulations are to be considered additional to and as not superseding those contained in Series 2, No. 5, or the additional regulations published under date of September 25th, 1866.

It has been stated in newspapers recently that at the last Cabinet meeting it was resolved to demand payment at the hands of the British Government of the claims for all the outrages committed by the Fenians in Canada, but that cannot be considered a new discovery, for the reason that the official correspondence between the Minister at this place and Minister Adams has been earnestly pressing upon the British government the justice of indemnity for losses thus sustained. It is believed, however, that definite instructions to carry out any recent decision on the subject were sent to Mr. Adams last Thursday. That is not the day on which the State Department communicated by steamer.

Nor is there anything now in the statement that the Juarez Government will be recognized by the United States, no other, no later date from him can be received in this village, the highest inhabited village in the world, retained by the same causes which have guided all his movements. The public's more closely and all summer travel had ceased, but we are happy to say he wrote with more cheerful and hopeful prospects.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 23.—The steamers Marion and Agues, from New York, have arrived. Sixteen buildings on Fulton street, front street, occupied mostly as wholesale grocteries, were destroyed by fire this morning, involving a loss of $1,000,000, about one-third of which was insured. Several firemen were seriously injured by the falling walls.

A private letter from Mexico, dated August 24, just published in the Times says. Mejia is fortifying at Matamoras. He has a force of 7,000 men, 2,000 of which are cavalry, and a battery. Regiments are leaving daily to relieve and occupy places but lately abandoned. Matamoras is full of Confederate officers, all of which were en route for France were ordered back.

Later dates says Mejia started off suddenly for Mexico. The Times asserts that Carlotta is fully successful in France.

Forney on Baltimore.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The Philadelphia Press of to-day says: General McClellan has returned from Mr. Forney, written at Baltimore last evening, in the course of which he says: Many of the most conservative men in the city are alarmed at the course given to the proceedings of the Police Commissioners. Mayor Chapman has taken his immovable stand against the assumption of the power claimed by the Governor, and has organized some of the bravest and best of her sons to put down the rebellion; have tendered their services to the Mayor. Among these I may name General Dennis, General Keeley, General Deems, General Woodley, the recent Provost Marshal of the State, Colonel Archer, well known as the gallant leader of the American Germans during the war, and these are followed by the Boys in Blue, at least three thousand men, all organized and armed.

General McClellan's Whereabouts.

NEW YORK, October 24.—The Journal of Commerce of to-day says: General McClellan has, up to two days past, been in daily and immediate communication with the American public, and wholly removed from all our political publications. The health of his family has called him to that section. He has passed the last summer at St. Maurity, a remote and quiet bathing place in Switzerland, whither he was sent by the orders of physicians. At the latest advices from him he remained in this village, the highest inhabited village in the world, retained by the same causes which have guided all his movements. The public's more closely and all summer travel had ceased, but we are happy to say he wrote with more cheerful and hopeful prospects.

THE BALTIMORE TROUBLES.

THE CITY REMARKABLY QUIET.

Resort to Violent Measures Considered Unnecessary.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—While it is true that there has been some excitement here incident upon the initiation of proceedings looking to the removal of the Police Commissioners by Governor Swan, and while it is also true that there is much anxiety and much speculation and discussion as to the issue and results of the pending proceedings, there has as yet been no serious disturbance of the peace; nothing that could be truthfully characterized as a mob or a riot, beyond a few altercations and angry discussions and personal collisions, resulting, in one instance, in a fight, in one case in the cearing down of a bulletin board of an afternoon paper yesterday, by a few riotously disposed persons. There is no doubt but that a number of persons expect to report to-day. The city has been remarkably quiet. The proclamation of the Governor has indeed been the object of much comment, but has caused no excitement whatever.

Tonight meetings are being held at various points, resulting, as they usually do on such occasions, in the adoption of resolutions denouncing the Executive policy, and the like organizations of the Republicans. OYER AND TERMINER.

Trial for Murder of Charles B. Stein.

TESTIMONY.

Few of our readers are unacquainted with the circumstances attending the murder of David Roberts, in Temperanceville, on the night of May 26, 1866. Much diversity of opinion as to the motives which led, and the causes which induced the killing of the unfortunate deceased, prevailed at the time, and public judgment was blinded by the conflicting rumors rife at the time. On the day of the homicide, primary meetings to elect delegates to the Union Republican County Convention, had been held and considerable hilarity was indulged in by the participants. The deceased, in company with several friends, visited the beer saloon kept by the prisoner, and after some conversation, got into a quarrel with Stein. The latter, in the heat of the moment, turned about, and, picking up a loaded revolver, aimed and fired at Roberts, the ball penetrating his right hand, almost instantly killing him. Stein then fled, and by foot and rail succeeded in reaching New York, where, through the tact and energy of Mayor Opdyke, aided by a Metropolitan detective, he was arrested and brought to this city about the middle of last July, and committed to jail to answer at court upon the charge of murder. The prisoner is an ordinary looking German, just such a one as we pass by unnoticed upon our streets. There is nothing extraordinary wicked looking about his features, but he does look like a man of a quick, passionate nature, his eyes being unusually prominent. His appearance in the court room attracted but little attention, save out of the curiosity to see the man who had so recently taken the life of a fellow being, and it was not until he was brought to this city about the middle of last July, and committed to jail to answer at court upon the charge of murder, that he seemed to realize his situation, and even then, on account of his wife and children, who attend him in Court, than for himself.

THE ARRAIGNMENT.

The prisoner was brought into court and arraigned in the forenoon, and was represented by M. Swartzwelder, Esq., and R. H. Patterson, Esq., District Attorney Duff appeared for the Commonwealth. In answer to the interrogatory, "Guilty or not guilty?" the prisoner replied, "Not guilty," and a plea to answer had been recorded, the empaneling of a jury was proceeded with. The selection was occupied in securing a jury of twelve jurors before noon at half past. Twenty-eight jurors were called, of this number seven were excused peremptorily by defendant, and five for cause. The Commonwealth challenged four peremptorily and three for cause; three were set aside, and one excused.

Thomas Griffith,	John Grubbs,
John Boyd,	John Coffey,
William Berger,	Joseph Best,
Andrew Hancock,	Solomon Roberts,
Henry Knoeble,	John Hessey.

The Indictment was then read to the prisoner, after which the Court took a recess until half-past one o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On the reassembling of the Court in the afternoon District Attorney Duff opened the case for the prosecution, detailing briefly the circumstances of the homicide, and the facts which he intended to prove. What was said on the conclusion of the gentleman's remarks testimony on the part of the prosecution was given as follows:

Dr. Joseph Swora—Resides in Chartiers township; deceased was my son; he died at my house on the 26th of May last; he died from a wound in the head; I was informed of it about 6 o'clock at night; resides on the Steubenville turnpike road.

Cross-examined—By Mr. Swartzwelder—My son was about thirty-seven years of age; he would weigh about the time of his death 150 or 155 pounds; I think he drew his last breath in my house; I was present when he died; I was not married when he married him home; a number of persons was present.

Dr. W. L. McCook, sworn—Was called to see David Roberts, deceased, the last Friday week, two minutes after my arrival; observed, after death, a gunshot wound on left side of the head; on day following made post mortem examination; on examination, on entering the small pistol ball the ball had entered the brain; death resulted from the wound; the wound was necessarily fatal; a ball traversed the brain; the direction of the ball was shown by the post mortem examination on the day following the death of the deceased.

Cross-examined—Dr. Rowledge was present; the ball entered a little behind and above the left ear; think it maintained nearly a direct course, deceased appeared to be well proportioned; should think he was about 5 feet 10 inches; think he was about two inches taller than myself, but made no particular observations; handed the ball to the Coroner; have not seen it since; think it was about the size of a rifle ball; about the size, and looks like the one I found; there were spots of powder about the head and face of the deceased.

Stephen Forguson, sworn—Knew David Roberts; he is dead; he was shot in Stein's house on the night of the murder; in company with Timmons; found the front door was locked after knocking we were admitted; then I entered the bar-room of Stein's house, sitting behind the counter with a pistol pointed at Roberts, who did not seem to know it. Stein snapped the pistol twice, and then fired a third time with a bullet, which shot through the left temple. I then went out and remained out in about half an hour.

Cross-examined—Could not have been more than three minutes from the time I went in till I heard the shot; was perfectly sober; heard no difficulty between any of the parties prior to the shooting; Stein was the first man I saw after the shot was fired; I was called the next day to identify the pistol.

Louis Fritz, sworn—Went to Stein's on the evening of the shooting with Ferguson; did not see the shooting; heard a report of a pistol and saw Roberts fall. That is all I know about the matter.

Cross-examined—Did not see any person use any violence to Mrs Stein; did not know either Roberts or Stein prior to the night of the shooting. I was standing close to Roberts when I heard the shot; Roberts was about three from him, nearer the door; could not say whether the pistol went off the first or second time.

Thomas B. Jones, sworn—I am a police officer. I arrested Stein on the eleventh of last June, near Bergen Hights, New Jersey. I tracked Stein from this city to the place stated. He was concealed in a chicken-coop in the woods when I found him. I told him that I had arrested him for the murder of Roberts. He said he was willing to go and that he had killed the man. He asked me if the other man has been killed. I replied—He admitted that killing Roberts. He said that Roberts, Ferguson and Fritz were coming at his wife and child with him. He made no effort to escape while on route to this city from New Jersey. He did not say he done the shooting in self defense; he said he was willing to go, and that it was the best thing he could do. He said he could implicate himself as I might possibly be called upon to give it in evidence against him.

The prosecution here rested their case; and the Court adjourned to meet this morning at nine o'clock, when the defense will produce their arguments.

The Sheriff's staff had announced that the hour of adjournment had arrived, Stein was assisted back through the Sheriff's office to the prison with some difficulty, he being on crutches.

Success.

In this practical and progressive age and country, a principal very generally recognized, is, that success is the criterion of merit. The high eminence of Grant, Sherman and Sheridan in the military world is ascribed wholly to their wonderful success. They were several years comparatively unknown and obscure in 1860. Their present distinction is a just trophy of battles fought and victories won. In the mechanical world Arkwright, Watt, Fulton, McCormick, and others, are names raised from obscurity to fame by their successful contributions to the economies of human life, and the stewardship of the cost of fabrics and of transportation, in the realms of commerce and trade. Gray and Lawrence, of Boston; Astor, Stewart and Claflin, of New York; Girard, of Philadelphia, and Brownes, of Baltimore, were, when young, poor and unknown. Success has elevated them to a place among the merchant's princes of the world. In our own city the principal and [illegible] criteria obtain. We might name a score of examples of merchants, mechanics, and others now well known, popular and prosperous, who by diligence, enterprise and a judicious use of the commercial Press of the city, have risen from their small beginnings, and, like the sun, rising in the horizon to the blue ethereal, shine among the stars in the commercial canopy. We could name a score of examples of this kind in Pittsburgh. Again ourselves, however, the morning we purchased the Morning Post, the popular shoe dealer, No. 61 Market street. He has seated to the highest pinnacle of his ambition, that of being proprietor in a retail store house which is known far and near as the emporium for bargains. Everybody has dealt at his house and bear willing testimony to the fact that he sells very reasonable [illegible] of which pedal coverings of all kinds are disposed. He has received a fresh stock of all the latest and most fashionable styles of boots and shoes and gaiters which have been introduced in the Eastern cities. Ladies, gentlemen, youths, misses and children, can appreciate to their thoughts and wishes adopt them in your order case, and at once proceed to Robinson's Bazaar and supply yourselves with gaiters, slippers, boots and brogans which will prove comfortable and at the same time adorn your feet.

Burned to Death—By a telegram received yesterday, by Mr. L. M'Intosh, shoe merchant of Allegheny, we learn that his son, E. G. M'

Rumors are revived of the speedy retirement of Mr. STANTON from the war office, and the acceptance by him of the Spanish mission. There seems to be good reasons for crediting these reports.

Mr. STANTON has made for himself an enviable place in the history of the country. Gifted with clear perceptions, great industry, and an indomitable will, his elevation to the headship of the War Department was in all respects fortunate for the country. He performed a vast amount of labor, and in the main did it well. No General in the field did more, if as much, as he towards the suppression of the rebellion; but his labor was of that sort to strike less palpably and with less glare the popular apprehension than the actual management of armies on the campaign. His was the organizing and directing mind that made triumphs possible by preparing the means thereto. It is even possible that what are generally accounted his defects of manner contributed, on the whole, to his success. The emergency required a man in the place he filled who could keep his eyes steadily on the essential point, and who could meet the thronging appeals for concessions and abatements with a rigor that made their attainment impossible from the start and discouraged a repetition of them.

Some little time ago we felt constrained to censure in Mr. STANTON what we could not but regard as willingness to retain official position by a compromise of essential principles. The letter which was drawn from him, defining his position, was not at all to our liking, at the moment of publication, nor has reflection upon it since lessened our original objection. The letter was all the more injurious and censurable because of his former well earned reputation for sternness and inflexibility. No inference could be more natural than that, if such a man, from his high post of observation felt constrained to recede, reasons must exist which ought to prevail over the scruples of other people.

We are aware of the plea by which his personal friends excuse or justify this delinquency—that he seemed to yield for the purpose of retaining power that, in other hands, might be wielded with prodigious effect against loyalty. It is not in our nature to simulate an acquiescence we do not feel, and hence we are not impressed with a sense of the wisdom or efficiency of such strategy. Besides, we do not rate patronage, in times of earnest discussion and ferment, as weighing much in turning the scale of public judgment. This has been recently demonstrated in so complete a manner as not to admit of cavilling. Moreover we incline to the opinion that if the Administration had turned all genuine Republicans out of office, and put its own creatures in, three months ago, the power of patronage would have proved even less than it actually was as the dispensation of it was managed.

Still, we are not disposed to question but what Mr. STANTON did what he thought to be wisest under the circumstances. What we urge is, that Mr. HARLAN'S frank and explicit way of dealing with the same problem impresses itself upon us at once as more dignified and more politic.

It appears probable that the place to be vacated by Mr. STANTON will be held open for Mr. COWAN. A sort of fitness exists why President JOHNSON should reserve this office for Mr. COWAN, who was his leader and model in the betrayal of the party by which both were trusted. Early in the war, while Mr. JOHNSON was acting vigorously against the rebels, Mr. COWAN was giving them all the aid and comfort he could in his influential position as a Senator in Congress. Directly hostilities commenced, the radicalism which secured his preferment from the Legislature, departed from him. Instead of rising to contemplate the situation with the open eyes of a statesman, he descended to dissect it with the microscopic vision of a lawyer, which is always fatal to the just comprehension of great national movements. Hampered by technicalities, beclouded by swarming subtleties, and embarrassed by instances that were not precedents in the novel and startling condition of national affairs, he first floundered about, uncontrolled by any cardinal principles, and then settled down in malingent opposition to all men and measures by which the rebellion was suppressed and the Union saved. In this attitude he went through the war. Ever after he had made definite engagements to cast his influence, such as it was, on the side of the rebels and copperheads, he had neither the manliness nor honesty to avow his purpose, but assumed to feel a more ardent desire for the success of the Republican party than he had manifested at any former period. This was the kiss of betrayal; the stab by which he signalized his apostacy.

Whether the Senate will consent to ratify his nomination as Secretary of War, even to secure Mr. STANTON the mission to Madrid, admits of question. There are reasons of public decency why a man who has been guilty of as flagrant treachery to the Republican cause as Mr. COWAN has should not be allowed to step from one high position to another still higher by the "advice and consent" of the Republican majority in the Senate. If he shall be allowed to pass the ordeal or confirmation we do not see with what show of consistency—with what pretext of principle—any other nomination can be rejected. First and deepest in his treachery, to suffer him to rise still higher as the reward of his baseness, would be to surrender the whole question and with trailed banners to retreat from the field.

THE CATHOLIC COUNCIL.

The action of the Roman Catholic Plenary Council of the United States, the sittings of which have just closed in Baltimore, cannot fail to exert a mighty influence upon the destinies of our country, both religiously and politically.

It is frankly avowed that Europe is no longer a congenial theatre for the operations of this vast and overshadowing ecclesiastical establishment, and that henceforth its mightiest energies are to be put forth to make this the great Catholic country of the earth, the centre of its world-embracing operations. The object is to seize upon the elements which are now in seething and turbulent agitation amongst us, and turn them, with a skill unknown to any other earthly power, to the object of aggrandizing, strengthening and extending that stupendous organization.

Archbishop Purcell, in his sermon, stated this morning that this Council was impressed with the necessity of reclaiming to Catholicity the United States of America, and intimated this to be the grand object of its assembling. There is to be no crusade preached against Protestantism, no offensive thrusting forward the doctrines and practices of Rome upon a population, the great majority of whom are opposed to that Church, but in a quiet way the clergy are to set about their work of proselytism with energy, perseverance and industry. If Italy loosens her chains to follow strange idols, America must come forward to the front and assume a first place among the faithful.

If the Catholic nations of Europe show signs of decay, and stand but indifferent spectators while Pius IX. is perplexed to find a spot where to lay his head, beyond the reach of his enemies, the Church in the United States is to send him words of cheer, and draw from him a tribute of gratitude. The Council has taken the most decided stand on the Papal question, and pledges the American Church as emphatically as the Latin language can convey to his Holiness its unreserved loyalty and attachment. The Council, it is said, was no less decided on another matter of not less importance. I refer to the public school system of the United States. The bishops do not condemn that system, but insist strongly that the Catholic youth of the country shall be educated in Catholic establishments. The catechism must go hand-in-hand with the grammar. The principles of religion must not be subordinated to the principles of arithmetic, nor mere worldly advantages be pursued to the detriment of the soul's salvation. Those who know with what pertinacity the Catholic clergy in other countries make all other considerations sink before that of making converts, will realize the field of labor now open here to men who devote their entire energies towards the accomplishment of their darling project. If this Council can effect it, there will be a revival of religious fervor that will extend to every portion of the country. The scheme is of the most comprehensive character, embracing a field of operations that is as yet untouched.

The freedmen of the South form the new missionary field which stands ready to receive the new crusaders. On the subject of the evangelization of the Southern negroes the Council have not merely fallowed what the shrewdness of its prelates at once saw to be a splendid chance, but have carried out the express instructions of Rome. The Southern negro is to be Christianized, educated and redeemed. The Catholic priest it to enter there with the same zeal that he does the interior of China or the Sandwich Islands. This work, in every respect so important, was to have been done, as I have been told, in the most quiet, though most determined, way possible. It was to have been done before Protestant sects had yet caught the idea, and hence the indignation I hear everywhere expressed at the publication the other day of Cardinal Barnabo's letter to the assembled bishops on that subject. That letter was received by Archbishop Spalding, who for the convenience of his brother bishops ordered the printing of a sufficient number of copies, with the most positive instuctions that there should be nothing said about it outside the Council. The printers say they know not how the Latin copy could have got out of the office, unless stolen by a correspondent of a New York paper, and the translation they say was execrable.

The Catholic Church does not despise the poor negroes. That is well. But it does not stop there. It does not say to them, "Be ye fed, be ye clothed, be ye schooled, be ye taken in;" but it proposes to do all these things, and so raise them up, give them an inheritance among their brethren, and make them a power in the church and in the nation; and all this is to be done that the church may be made strong. Shall Protestants quarrel with that church for doing these things, and for endeavoring to proselyte all classes of our people, white and black, high and low, native and foreign? So far as they do so they injure their own cause, and build up that of their great antagon'st. Their only course is to go and do likewise, and to say to all these classes, "We come to show to you a more excellent way." What care the quiet workers of that thoroughly disciplined and drilled communion for learned discussions and zealous denunciations? For example, shall Rome have our recently emancipated Freedmen? This is a question which must be answered by works, by faithful, abundant and persistent labor, not by words. And so of all other classes.

Rome may be wrong in her creed, but she is right in her method.

"MANHOOD SUFFRAGE."

The advocates of reform in England, and of the extension of the suffrage to poorer classes of men than have hitherto enjoyed it there, have imported this expressive phrase from our country; and it is one that will have a potent and abiding influence upon the minds of the English masses.

It is a suggestive phrase, and well calculated to awaken the dormant faculties of the mind to an inquiry into the nature of things—into the relative dignity and excellence of man as man, compared with a little property which may happen to attach to him. It is a phrase which starts an IDEA, founded in truth and justice, and which is bound to go on "conquering and to conquer," until it shall bring down everything that seeks to exalt itself by degrading humanity and usurping the rights of God.

The phrase is equally applicable to the politics of both countries, although it is made to strike at very different abuses and wrongs. In England a man has no political rights, because he is poor; in America he has none, because he is not exactly of the right color. In England, a man's skin might be as dark as Erebus, and all his ancestors, for a hundred generations, may have basked in sunny Congo, but if he has a sufficient amount of property, he can vote; while his pure Caucasian fellow subject, who may happen to fall a few shillings short, is disfranchised.

The American democrat vigorously denounces the English aristocrat for denying men the right of the franchise because they are poor; while the Englishman just as emphatically condemns the American for doing the same thing to men, merely because their skins are dark. Each accuses the other, and with equally good cause, of injustice and oppression. The Englishman's argument is, that a man who has property has more at stake in the State than the man who has none, and that therefore it is the rightful prerogative of men of property to rule. The American democrat contends—he does not argue—that this is "a white man's government," and in that assumption he rests satisfied. To his mind it is the end of all controversy, perfectly conclusive, and therefore none but white men have any right to vote.

We are not going to argue the question at all; our only object being to point out the different applications made of the phrase, "Manhood Suffrage," on the opposite sides of the Atlantic. On this side colored men, and on that side poor men are reaching forth their hands to Him who is no respecter of persons, and asking that they may be lifted up from beneath the feet of their fellows, and set beside them as equals, as brethren, and as MEN.

Not a few Republican newspapers sneer at the nomination of JOHN MORRISSEY, pugilist and gambler, for Congress in the Fifth District of New York. Is there not, after all, a fitness in the selection? The nominating Convention thought so, and we are not disposed to impeach its judgment in the premises. Either of the BROOKSES or the Woods has some exterior accomplishments which Mr. MORRISSEY lays no claim to; but these are not the things that the representative system takes account of. So long as such constituencies exist, why should not one of their own sort represent them?

PITTSBURGH, MAY, 15th, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH:

GENTLEMEN:—During a visit to the West last fall, I contracted chills and fever, which brought me to my bed, and finally terminated in typhoid fever, and confined me to my room for several months, during which time I was physically so prostrated that I almost despaired of ever securing my old health, having almost entirely lost my appetite for days, not being able to eat a morsel, added to which I was distressed with a reeling sensation in my head, and passed many sleepless nights—all from debility caused by my prostrate condition, brought about by fever. At the suggestion of a personal friend I recommended me to the use of your celebrated STOMACH BITTERS, which I procured to the use of stimulants in any form. I at first declined, but afterward yielded my prejudices, and after taking the bitters for several weeks, my appetite returned, and with it I am rapidly regaining my former strength and vigor. My sleep (from the loss of which I have suffered much) is sweeter and better than it is now, and the reeling sensation (before described) has entirely left my head. My bowels, which were much constipated and irregular, are now quite natural, and, in fact, I am glad to say that I feel myself a new man, and could not refrain from making mention of my appreciation of your valuable preparation for the benefit of others, that they may be partakers of the virtues, which prove to be so beneficial to me for so long a period. I may say that my physician, after ascertaining the nature and effect of your medicine, recommended that I use them regularly.

Yours, very respectfully,

J. B. CAPEWELL,

WIND-GUARD AND AIR-HEATER FOR COAL OIL LAMPS.

PATENTED OCTOBER 23rd, 1865.

The merits of this Invention consist in its protection to lamp chimneys, which are continually breaking from heat, with the ordinary lamps.

No sudden transition from heat to cold can crack or break these chimneys; the lamps can be carried with safety and without apprehension, in the most violent wind,—reducing a steady light under all circumstances, and the fact that one-third less of oil is consumed, renders this a most valuable acquisition to house-keepers. Samples sent to any part of the U. S. on receipt of 25 cents, postage paid.

THE NEW

Spring and Summer Medicine.

FLUID EXTRACT

SARSAPARILLA,

COMBINED WITH

Iodide of Lime,

PREPARED FOR

G. W. PETTES, BOSTON,

BY

James R. Nichols & Co.

MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS,

MANUFACTURERS OF THE

ELIXIR PERUVIAN BARK

WITH

Protoxide of Iron,

Which has become so favorably known as a

Tonic and Restorative,

By Physicians and Invalids in all parts of the country.

The new preparation, "SARSAPARILLA IN A COMBINATION WITH IODIDE OF LIME," presents one of the most prompt alterative agents in a form capable of exerting full action upon the system, and this in minute and pleasant doses. It is conceded that the alterative, resolvent, or tonic effects of iodine, are exerted most decidedly when associated with other alteratives, in combination; and the Sarsaparilla seems to fulfil perfectly all the favorable requisitions.

The first effect usually observed when "SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME" is taken, is an increase of appetite, showing that it has tonic properties of a marked character. Its alterative effects are manifest in its ready combination with the blood and tissues. Hale, scrofulous women and children improve rapidly under its use, and the vital functions assume a healthy condition.

It is admirably adapted to a large number of chronic acute affections peculiar to children. It is called to the aid, both by the profession and efficiency of Medicinal effect and the pleasant, attractive form of the remedy. It may be given for a long period where constitutional influences are desired, and no repugnance, or disinclination to take the syrup, encountered. In White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, and Distortions of the Spine, it should be given persistently, in moderate doses, until relief is obtained.

The accumulation of morbid matters in the system seems to become manifest and very troublesome. Lassitude, Headache, Boils, Costiveness, Loss of Appetite, Pains in the Joints, Indigestion, etc., are very common. Nothing ever devised is better adapted to exterminate or drive off these affections than this new combination of SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME.

No preparation like it, or which approximates to it as an

has ever before been placed within the reach of invalids. Indeed, it is an entire NEW and SCIENTIFIC combination of no resemblance to anything hitherto employed.

The opinion of medical men concerning it, the description of its chemical character, therapeutic value, manner of use, etc., are given in a circular, which can be had at the store of any and all first-class Druggists.

The University of Medicine and Surgery.

One of the most complete and thorough institutions in the country for the attainment of the ground works of medical knowledge, is that of the University of Medicine and Surgery, situated near the corner of Walnut and Ninth streets, Philadelphia. When I say the ground work, I do not mean that it furnishes the elementary principles of medicine merely, but in every department needful to the successful treatment of disease, and to qualify and one, sufficiently endowed by nature, with the necessary helps in acquiring such knowledge.

The institution above alluded to, will not be long in attaining a stand among the ablest and best which our country with its great facilities offers to all. Here there is no royal road to the acquisition of knowledge, its avenues are open alike to all who are willing and anxious to engage in the pursuit of science, learning or an honorable fame. Industry, toil, perseverence, in the study of medicine, like in any other useful science, is sure to be recognized at one time or another with its just and adequate reward; and in no other college in our vast country are greater or better facilities afforded than in that of the one above referred to.

It numbers amongst its teachers no less than eight professors of the different leading branches of medical science any one of whom is thoroughly conversant, with the department he engages to teach. Among the number will be found those of McClintocks, Paine, Dalton, Doucel, of Philadelphia, and Oldshue, of our own city. The University has, besides, eight adjunct professors, who treat on special subjects, connected with medicine, the purpose of the institution being to fully educate the student, in every department connected with that great science, having for its object the alleviation of human suffering and the prolongation of human life.

The medical student who is really desirous of perfecting himself in all that per ains to medicine in every department, will find in the University kind and obliging professors, whose just aim is to make him an adept in his profession, and to furnish him with every facility in their power for the accomplishment of that end.

Study, attention and assiduous application in the use of the means which the College offers, cannot fail to train and educate those who engage in it seriously, with a thorough knowledge of medicine, as far as it can be learned in the use of lectures and clinical instructions.

This is the ground work to which I have alluded. Constant application and observation, and a good use of good authors, must finish the after work in making the competent and skillful physician. I have taken the pains to say this much in favor of a medical school in which two winters ago, in company with Professor Oldshue, I was shown every kindness and attention that could be extended to any one, and through the teachings of whose faculty I received great advantages.

The University of Medicine and Surgery is unlimited in its teachings of medicine in this, that every variety of medical materials are presented for the student from which to make his selections, and it, in other respects, is complete in every department.

Respectfully, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.

The Market Street Sewer.

Messrs. Editors:—In this morning's issue we notice that you make an extract from an address—by our friend Dr. Gallaher, and we presume that he is still running on the old subject, "Sewers." He has been trying for the last year to convince Councils on this particular hobby, but has singularly failed to impress that body with his mild theory. We do not profess to have the medical knowledge, or to have the ability to lecture on Gas, like the learned Doctor, but we really think it would be well for him to study good practical common sense, and quit such ridiculous nonsense he has set forth in his arguments on the sewer questions. It is conceded by all sensible men who have examined into the matter, that a sewer on Market street, is indispensable to Pittsburgh. And it is simply ridiculous for the Doctor to talk and expect about putrifaction, poisoned gases, polluted air, &c., &c. if the sewer is constructed. The reason why the ordinance was introduced in the Councils, was to prevent what the Doctor says it will cause. We would respectfully refer the learned gentleman to the private room adjoining the council chamber, and we think it would not be amiss if the Health officer would visit that locality occasionally. And further, they are quite sure that sewers are the cause of disease. It is well known that more deaths have resulted from cess pools than ever was known to have originated from sewers, and if the water is allowed to pass over and the overflowing cess pools in the locality of Fifth street are allowed to send forth their noisome stench another epidemic we will have such another epidemic as we had in 1854. Even admitting that the Doctor was right in his hobby on this matter, that sewers cause disease, it does not at all affect the one proposed on Market street. As there would be an ample fall, and, further, the fire plugs are allowed to run almost daily, and would effectually wash away any vegetable matter or other matter that might accumulate in them.

For the life of me, I cannot divine what the Doctor wants or would be at, unless it is that he desires to increase his business next summer or to try some new experiments on disease.

Committee.

Among the Ill-fated.—The Pithole Record says: We learn through Conductor Cotting that among those lost by the foundering of the ill-fated steamer "Evening Star," was William Rockwell Jacques, formerly of this city. Mr. Jacques was well known here. He was formerly employed in the office of Shiras & Co., Oil City. On the opening of the Oil City and Pithole Railroad, he accepted the position of agent at Oilopolis, which he filled to the satisfaction of all concerned. He was a young man of genial disposition, and kind hearted. His many friends, as well as his fond parents and affectionate sister, will mourn his sad and untimely end.

Riots in Shanghai.—The Steubenville Herald's correspondence says we go to press several telegraphic dispatches have been received from McCoy's Station stating that a riot is in progress there. As our readers are already aware young McCoy shot a man by the name of McGavern last summer. McGavern collected a crowd to-day and caused Mr. Lewis K. McCoy to retreat unto a room over Mr. James Stone's store. McCoy fired several pistol shots but is still unable to raise the siege and has telegraphed to the sheriff for an armed possee to relieve him from his perilous situation.

LOCK STITCH—The best in use stitches alike on both sides; the cheapest machine by twenty per cent. in use, and will sew faster, and it gives satisfaction in all cases. Plain finish and no ornamental polish with pearl, silver plated and rosewood.

Also the Finkle & Lyon. Warranted five years. W. H. Long, Agent, No. 12 Grant street, opposite the Cathedral. See advertisement in another column.

New Arrangement.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a circular forbidding in distilleries the old practice of separating the low and high wines by allowing them to run and separate through open tubes, placed near the outlet of the still or worm, and prescribing the use of a glass vessel, which shall be connected with and made a part of the pipes or apparatus connecting the outlet of the still with the receiving cistern. The new apparatus must be in use by the 15th of November next, after which the old practice will not be allowed.

How to Prevent Fires.—To guard against fires, the Burgess and Common Council of the city of Pithole appointed a committee of citizens to make a thorough and impartial examination of each building within the corporate limits connected with others so as to endanger them. The committee have made a lengthy report in regard to the stove pipes and the chimneys connected with the same, and petitioned for an ordinance to secure protection against fires, and a carrying out of their recommendations in the cases complained of.

Wool.—The Ohio Farmer says there is still a little clipping of wool in that State. The range of prices paid is from forty-five to fifty cents, but there don't exist, so far as we can hear, a very strong desire among buyers to be much at even these low figures. The stand-still of the trade East, with the doubtful future for speculators, make all parties hesitate.

Stole a Gun.—Addison Arthurs appeared before Alderman Lynch yesterday and made oath charging Samuel Ferguson with having feloniously taken and carried away from the residence of the deponent, in the Second ward, a valuable shot-gun, worth, in the opinion of the prosecutor, the sum of $25. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Not so Much.—An exchange says: "Albert Lyon, a young Republican of Potter county, traveled thirty miles over a rough and bleak road, on the day of the election, to poll a vote for Gen. Geary." That's nothing. Hundreds of Democrats traveled out of their own States to get a vote for Clymer in Pennsylvania.

Two Hundred Patterns braid and on broidery, and slippers, stamps for sale, and stamping done also indelible stamping and receipt for sale, and model for cutting ladies and children's dresses where any person can learn in twenty minutes. No. 192 Grant street.

Fire at Parkersburg.—Governor Boreman's property at Parkersburg, West Virginia, consisting of dwelling house, stable and law library, was destroyed by fire on Thursday last.

Boys in Blue.—The Executive Committee of the Boys in Blue, are requested to meet on Thursday, the 25th inst., at 4 P. M., at the office of Gen. Pearson, on Grant street.

Special Caution.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has become so popular that various parties have put out articles calling them Mrs. Winslow's. Please take notice that the Mrs. Winslow of the Soothing Syrup is not connected with any other article. yl1:d4w

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Discovery of Plans to Impeach the President—"Boys in Blue" to Protect Congress—Cause of Mr. Stanton's Resignation—The Insanity of the Empress of Mexico.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The Herald's Washington special details an alleged discovery of the plans of the Radicals to impeach and depose the President. A large force of "Boys in Blue" were to be sent to Washington to protect and aid Congress in its schemes. A general distribution of arms throughout the West had been made by the Radical Governors. The story is startling if true.

The Herald's Washington special says: The actual facts regarding the rumored resignation of Secretary Stanton are as follows: He is now engaged in making out his reports, and as soon as it is finished he will undoubtedly retire. His resignation has been precipitated by the discovery lately made that Mr. Stanton has filled nearly all the vacancies in the regular army without the knowledge or assent of Mr. Johnson. He has been for some time maturing confidential plans and forwarding them to the appointees, and orders them to report to General Grant for duty. General Grant supposing them, as appeared from the face of their orders, to be appointed by the President, has assigned them to duty, and they are now in service without the knowledge of the President, who, learning this fact, the President was very angry, and for Mr. Stanton and demanded an explanation. The result was the retirement of Mr. Stanton as soon as he could make out his report, on which he is now engaged.

The belief gains ground that General Sherman will succeed Mr. Stanton, pro tem. He cannot of course hold the office and that of Lieut. General at the same time, but at the request of General Grant, who desires the hearty co-operation of Sherman, will be sent free to any address on receipt of $5, or if preferred, will be sent C. O. D., on receipt of one quarter payment.

The watch will be sent by Express, or mail registered, so that there is almost a certainty of reaching their destination; but should the Express Company or Post Office fail in their duty, we will send another watch immediately. Orders for any kind of Watches will be promptly and faithfully fulfilled. Liberal terms to the trade.

AGENTS.—We want Agents in every town and county in the country, and to those acting as such liberal inducements will be offered.

Tornado in Indiana—Houses, Fences, Crops, Etc., Blown Down—Great Destruction of Property.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—The tornado of Sunday was but slightly felt in this vicinity. At Terre Haute considerable damage was done. The hurricane raged from twelve o'clock, midnight, until three o'clock in the morning. The National bridge across White River was partially unroofed, and several houses blown down or severely injured. Fences and standing crops were blown down in the surrounding country. At Greencastle, Indiana, two large business blocks were demolished.

At Danville, a new four story marble front building was blown down; loss twenty thousand dollars. Turner's Hall, in process of erection, was also blown down. The storm was general in the western part of the State.

The Failure of Alden, Frink & Weston.

NEW YORK, October 23.—The Herald's special says: The failure of Alden, Frink & Weston, as Cahoes, involves a loss of half a mill ion of dollars, with only about $200 000 secured by assignment. The heaviest losers are John L. Thompson & Sons, $100,000; Manufacturers Bank of Troy, $50,000; Hugh Ranken of Troy, $25,000; Gould Rockwell, of Troy, $18,000, and the Cahoes Bank. Six weeks wages due the factory hands have been assumed by Thompson & Sons. One of the largest dry goods firms of Troy, is said to be involved for about $40,000, and it is thought will suspend.

Destructive Fire.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Herald's Bridgeport special says: The Bridgeport Furniture Company's Factory, consisting of three large brick buildings, was almost entirely destroyed by fire this morning. Were partially insured for about $50,000. Nearly one hundred men are thrown out of employment. The company had a very large stock on hand. The building and stock are almost a total loss.

Dedication of the Cornplanter Monument.

The ceremonies of the dedication of the Cornplanter Monument took place on Thursday last. The Erie Dispatch says: The assemblage was called to order by Hon. S. P. Johnson, who made a few prefatory remarks, which were interpreted by Halftown, from the Allegheny Reservation. A prayer was offered by the Rev. W. A. Rankin, Chaplain of the day. After which a very able address was delivered by Hon. James Ross Snowden, of Philadelphia. The day was a beautiful one, and a large concourse of persons were assembled to witness the ceremonies.

The monument is quite conspicuous, having a base of sand stone, one and a half feet high, the sub-bases being of marble, together with the die and shaft, making eleven and a half feet of marble. The whole is surmounted by a suitable cap. Upon the north side of the monument is very suitably engraved the name and date—

"Gyant wahia, the Cornplanter.
John Obail alias Cornplanter,
Died
At Cornplanter Town, Nov. 18, A. D., 1835, aged about 100 years."

Upon the west side is the following inscription:

"Chief of the Seneca tribe, and a principal Chief of the Six Nations, from the time of his death. Distinguished for talent, courage, eloquence, sobriety, and love for his tribe and race, to whose welfare he devoted his time, his energies, and his means, during a long and eventful life."

Upon the south side is the following:

"Erected by authority of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, by act passed March, A. D., 1866."

An excellent collation was discussed, making an agreeable finale to to the exercises of the day.

Preachers' Meeting.

The pastors and other ministers of the Methodist Protestant Denomination of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and vicinity, held a meeting in the First M. P. Church, Fifth street, on Monday, and organized a Preacher's meeting, which will meet hereafter every Monday morning, at nine o'clock. The object is for mutual improvement, for the promotion of the interests of the denomination, &c. There was a full attendance and great good feeling. A committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. B. Clark, pastor of the First church, Pittsburgh, and Rev. V. Lucas, pastor of the First church, Allegheny, to arrange a plan for a series of protracted centenary meetings in the various churches, beginning next week.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily at this point, and Captain John Shouse, pilot of the Quickstep, which boat arrived at "Glass House" early yesterday, asserts that there were not then over twenty-eight inches in the channel there. The weather yesterday was cloudy and cool, with a slight sprinkling of rain early in the afternoon.

The Nora, from Cincinnati, arrived early yesterday morning, with a fair trip. She was delayed considerably, and had a good deal of trouble in getting up, in consequence of low water. The Quickstep succeeded in getting to the foot of Glass House, but was unable to get over, and she is now laid up in that vicinity. The Lodi arrived and left early for Parkersburg, and the Forest City, is due here from the same point this morning.

The Ohio Boy left for Cincinnati about noon yesterday, with all the freight she could take, and a fair number of passengers. This boat would have left on Monday, but for a difficulty with one of her owners, which, we presume, was settled, in some way or other, otherwise, she would not have been permitted to take her departure.

The New State and Nora will doubtless lead in turn for Cincinnati after the Pine Grove. Capt. H. H. Devinney has again resumed command of the Nora.

The Quickstep is without doubt the swiftest boat above the falls. She left Cincinnati between three and four o'clock on Saturday afternoon last, and reached Glass House early yesterday morning, notwithstanding she ruboed the bottom of the river from Wheeling up. We are of the opinion she is more than a match for any of the Cincinnati packets, not even excepting the Fleetwood.

The Camilla, Capt. Shaw, is filling up steadily for St. Louis, and also for Natchez, Capt. T. H. Golding, for New Orleans.

There are a large number of towboats laid up at different points below here and Wheeling, being unable to proceed any further in consequence of low water.

The Camilla and Sherman are among the first boats due. The former had nothing of very light draught, will doubtless be able to get through.

The towboat Hornet was preparing to leave Louisville on Saturday for below with twelve barges of coal in tow, and the Argonaut No. 2 passed there the same day en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh.

Says Monday's Cincinnati Commercial:

The Columbia, Capt. Geo. W. Reed, arrived from Pittsburgh last night with 230 tons, the bulk of her cargo being for Cushman & Co. She left Pittsburgh on Friday, at 12 o'clock, arriving here last night at 7 o'clock, having made thirty landings, including eight landings for freight. She came through in fifty-five hours, which is remarkably good time for the present low water. She reports passing the Glasgow bend, aground at Burlington, six miles above Wheeling.....The silver Lake No. 4, Capt. Todd, left the Eureka docks yesterday, flying light, for Pittsburgh, where she will go into lay up for the winter.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

TUESDAY, October 23, 1866.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as reported by Robinson, McGlean & Co., were as follows: Gold, 145¾; 1881's, 110½; 5-20's, old, 114¾; do new, 110½; 10-40s, 99¾; 7-30's, 1st series, 108⅛; do 2d and 3d, 105¾. Michigan Southern, R. R., 91¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 92¾; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 110½; Erie R. R., 82¾; Union Telegraph Company, 53½; Chicago & Rock Island, 108; Chicago & North Western, 55¼; do preferred, 79¾.

Money market working easy, with light demand. No change to note in home stocks. We have 17½ bid for Allegheny Valley Railroad. Bank shares steady. Governments firm at New York quotations.

—We notice in the operations in Governments two things—a foreign demand that is fast absorbing all the old Five Twenties, and a steady increase of the July Five Twenties, which are no doubt, to a large extent going into the hands of domestic holders parting with the old 1862s. These two classes of bonds are known here in the home market to be of equal value, except that the old have two months more in interest on them, and yet they are selling at a difference of ¾ per cent. The present foreign demand is long continued, the old Five Twenties will be absorbed, when the new will be introduced into the foreign market, and holders will put the interest on them as regularly paid in gold as on the old. Of course prices will soon find the same point. Indeed, the '65s, being a longer loan, will one day have the preference.

—A singular misapprehension has been entertained by some of the national banks that they are not obliged to redeem mutilated notes except at a discount. Holders of such notes should in no case allow this discount. The banks are bound to redeem their notes at their own counters and at their redeeming agencies, no application to the Treasury having been promulged on the 15th inst.

—Sale of stocks Tuesday evening, October 23d, at Commercial Sales Rooms, 101 Smithfield street, by A. McIlwaine, auctioneer:

Merchants' and Manufacters' Nat. Bank.....$85 25
Eureka Insurance Company.....45 00
Pittsburgh Insurance Company.....

—The stock market, under the vigorous leadership of the Secretary of the Treasury, continues to advance, and the speculative feeling is as rampant as when the Treasury emitted paper currency at the rate of $2,500,000 per day. The gold room and the sessions of the Stock Exchanges were crowded with throngs of speculators, and there was excitement to equals that of 1863-1864. The scare of the early part of the week is forgotten, and under renewed confidence holders are ready to take anything offered at almost any price. As this unhealthy state of affairs is wholly caused by the administration of the Treasury in the interests for the advancement of stocks to the damage of honest industry, no change can be looked for until Mr. McCulloch alters his financial curves from official acts, into sound principles expressed by his Fort Wayne speech and his last annual report. By his present policy he steadily adds to the speculative mania, and prevents the employment of capital in long enterprises, such as the building of factories, the construction of railways, the sinking of mines, or any permanent use of capital in real estate. It is a fact worthy of notice that there are no railways of any importance, except those having a Government subsidy, and no new factories, though existing mills are paying enormous dividends. The whole system of business is in the highest degree unsatisfactory to prudent people, and creates alarm for the future. If Congress at the next session, which ends in the working days from this time, does not take through hands to reduce the currency of the country, the year ending March, 1868, will witnessa speculative mania which will end in a frenzy which will cast all former experience into the shade.—*N. ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

CATTLE.

The supply of cattle was much larger this week than for some weeks past, and as the demand was hardly up the usual average, the market ruled very dull, and prices generally, a shade lower. There were some few shippers in attendance, but they took hold very sparingly, and the fact that the supply was considerably in excess of the demand, were somewhat independent, and this being the case, holders were obliged to make concessions in order to effect sales. Heretofore, good retailing cattle have not been much effected by an over supply, but this week, this grade as well as the commoner kind, moved very slowly and at lower prices, and between two and three hundred head were left over unsold. Stockers continue dull, and nothing to be expected at this season of the year, as stock growers are not disposed to buy very freely with winter weather near at hand. For further particulars, we refer the reader to the report of sales.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was not a very heavy supply of Sheep on sale, though it was nevertheless fully up to the demand, and while the market was moderately active, prices remain about the same as last week, ranging from 4 to 6¼ cents gross, for common to strictly prime fat mutton sheep. Fowler & Emmitt retained 150 head averaging from 100 to 130 lbs, at prices ranging from 5½ to 6¼ cents—some 200 lbs of 84 head bringing the last named figure. Rogers & Co., sold 108 head of very common Sheep to Beesley & Co, averaging 90 lbs, at 4½ cents. Lambs may be quoted at $2,50 @ $4,25 per head.

SWINE.

The receipts of Hogs are becoming a little more liberal, but there is no improvement to the demand, and, if anything, prices, compared with last week, are a shade lower. Ehrett & Co. bought several small bunches at from 8¼ to 9 cts. In a retail way, we quote at 9 to 10 cts, gross.

REPORTED SALES OF CATTLE.

Hazlewood & Co. had 109 head prime fat steers, and 43 head stock cattle left over unsold. Refused an offer of 8¾ for the former. Retailed 10 head at 8 to 8¾. Kewsin retailed 11 head for Butler men at 7 to 7¾. Marvin sold 37 head of oxen and steers to Greenwald & Kahn, averaging about 1060, at 8¾.

Lafferty & Glass sold 24 head stock cattle, averaging 875, to Adkins, at 5¾. Retailed 30 head at 5 to 8—37 head left over unsold. C. Wolfe retailed 13 head mixed Ohio stock at 4 to 6¾—left over.

Emerick & Co. to Hilderbrand 18 head, averaging 1015—16 head at 7, and 2 at 8. Morgan sold 37 head at 6¾ to 7¼. Hevi 17 head at 5¾ to 7¼. Merrick & Dont sold 20 head for Myers & Neely at 6 to 7¼. Hudson sold a small drove to Shamberg.

Myers & Noedy sold 16 head of very fine cattle to Hurst at 8,35; also, 12 head of extra to Andy Ackley at 8¾. Without wishing to be invidious, it is well-known that Mr. Ackley always buys good cattle, and pays for it, upright and correct in his dealings. Messrs. M. & N. also, sold 64 head stock cattle to Knox & Co. at 5¾, and retailed 100 head at 5 to 8¾.

Sharp & Hamilton sold 20 head at 5¾ to 6¾. Kraus & Haas sold 18 head to Kiesher, averaging 1060, at 7¾, and retailed 80 head at 5 to 8. Greenwald & Kahn retailed 92 head at 5¾ to 8. Carr & McAllister retailed 75 head at 5¾ to 7¾.

SWINE.—Heavy corn fed per, pound, 10½@ 10¾c; light and medium, 9¾@10c.

The market for cattle ruled dull and declined lower under continued heavy receipts; common grades sold at a decline of 1½@2c per pound, and the trade generally fully 3c lower, 3 being the top price at the close, while some sold as low as 8@9c. Milch cows were in fair demand, and in some cases a slight advance was established, though we make no change in quotations. Veal calves in active demand, generally obtained for prime, general sales being made at 11¾@12c.

Sheep and Lambs under increased receipts and a large supply ruled decidedly heavy with but little business at the concessions noted, closing extremely dull at 5@6c for sheep, and 6@8c for lambs.

The Hog market, ruled dull and prices have declined fully¼ per pound under heavy arrivals and free offerings, closing 9¾@10c for best quality; 10@10¼c for fair to good, and 9¾@10c for common.

The total receipts of all stocks at the yards for this week are as follows: Beeves, 6,625 head; cows, 122 head; veal calves, 1,577 head; sheep and lambs, 29,517 head; swine, 20,966 head.

Receipts of Grain at Chicago.

CHICAGO, October 22.—The receipts and shipments of Grain at Chicago last week were heavy, as follows, reducing Flour to wheat at 4 barrels to a bushel: Flour, 16,000 barrels; wheat, 2,433,290 bushels, against 1,701,365 bushels for the corresponding week in 1865, showing an increase of 731,925 bush ls. The shipments last week were 2,258,000 bushels, against 2,117,856 bushels for same week in 1865, also showing an increase of 161,140 bushels.

The Grain stocks and active foreign demand in New York have had the effect of bringing into requisitions all the means of transportation that could be seen here and the seaboard from now until the close of navigation, as all the produce which it is possible to get there this fall will be pushed forward as rapidly as the means present themselves.—Journal.
